About APAARI

APAARI is a membership-based, apolitical and multi-stakeholder inter-governmental regional organization. It is bridging national, regional and global stakeholders to bring about collective change in agri-food systems.

APAARI's wide network of members and partners comprises of national agricultural research institutes (NARIs) and organizations (NAROs), CG centres, Association of International Research and Development Centers for Agriculture (AIRCA), universities, extension service providers, civil society organizations, the private sector, farmers and rural communities. Guided by its Strategic Plan 2017-2022, APAARI works with these members and partners to address four thematic areas:

- Mobilization, management and use of natural resources for sustainability of agri-food systems
- Management of risks and uncertainties of agri-food systems
- Inclusive development and integration of value chains targeted at benefiting smallholders
- Analysis, strengthening and formulation of public policies and overarching regulatory frameworks to support the transformation and development of agri-food systems

Four key programmes and activities address these areas, namely: knowledge management, partnership and networking, capacity development, and advocacy. Close collaboration with its stakeholders are instrumental for APAARI to strengthen agri-food research and innovation systems towards more sustainable development in Asia-Pacific region.

Vision: Strengthened research and innovations for sustainable agricultural development in Asia and the Pacific

Mission: Promoting, coordinating and strengthening agriculture and agri-food research and innovation systems through partnerships and collaboration, capacity development and advocacy for sustainable agricultural development in Asia and the Pacific

Goal: The Asia-Pacific region benefits from and values APAARI's leadership and contribution to developing agriculture and agri-food research and innovation systems

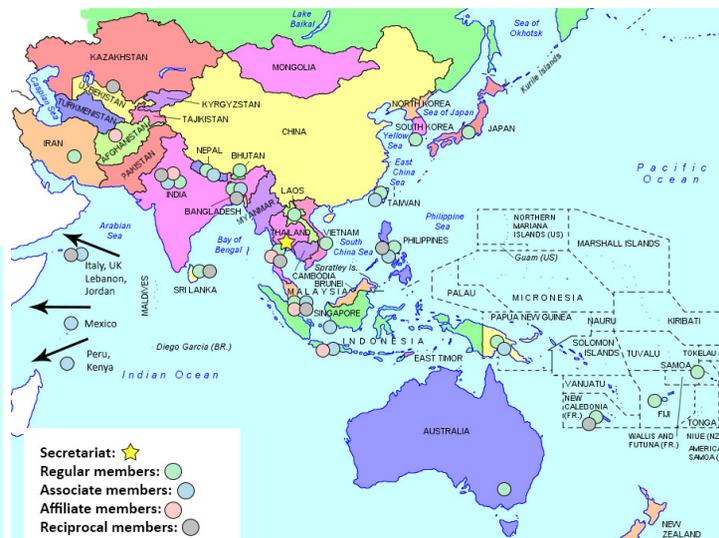

APAARI Membership

APAARI's member institutions working in agri-food research and innovation in Asia-Pacific and globally, has increased from nine at inception to over 77 to date. Through collective action, they contribute to the attainment of the APAARI vision, mission and goal, and ultimately to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Types of Membership

Regular	National Agricultural Research System (NARS) institutions that pay membership fee and have voting rights in APAARI.
Associate	International Agricultural Research Centres (IARC) and agricultural universities that pay membership fee and have voting rights.
Affiliate	Agricultural universities and research institutions beside NARS that pay lower membership fees and have no voting right.
Reciprocal	Other regional/global fora that also recognize APAARI as their member without paying membership fees to each other.
