Securing food for ASEAN Region

Global food security, where the world's population has access to affordable, safe and nutritious food, is one of the major challenges of the 21st century. Climate change and world population growth put pressure on governments, producers and consumers to plan ahead for food security.

This conference will give us an understanding of the elements that contribute to the food security agenda.

This forum will enable experts to explore the factors that influence food security including projected population changes, climate change, ecosystem services and resilience, disease and fossil fuel dependence. The seminar also emphasizes on agro-based sources, food processing, international policies and sustainable use of natural resources and food production.
