ASIA-PACIFIC ASSOCIATION OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH INSTITUTIONS
(APAARI)

PREAMBLE

The Asia-Pacific Association of Agricultural Research Institutions (APAARI) was established in 1990. The First Edition of APAARI's Constitution was published in December 1991. Since then the Constitution has progressed through five editions¹, mainly with minor amendments; the latest version being the Seventh Edition of 2019

Developed on the basis of a comprehensive review, this Eighth Edition of the Constitution makes substantial improvements and amendments that provide clarity, consistency and transparency for APAARI to respond to current and emerging challenges of agriculture and agri-food systems (AFS)² in the Asia-Pacific Region (APR). These challenges include climate change, depleting resources, hunger and malnourishment, and complex production, supply and value chains. Also included in this Edition are the necessary provisions to help enhance APAARI's management and governance so as to respond effectively towards the renewed focus on agricultural research and innovation and thereby contribute to the realization of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in the region. This Edition has 17 Articles and 50 Paragraphs, and 1 Annexure, covering various topics as indexed in the Contents page.

¹ First Edition of December 1991, Second Edition of September 1994, Third Edition of February 2003, Fourth Edition of January 2009, and Fifth Edition of January 2015.

² In the context of this Constitution, agri-food systems cover farming of crops and livestock, fish, pastoralism and forestry/agro-forestry, their production systems, and their associated post-harvest food value chains and service industries, with a particular focus on the needs of resource-poor smallholder producers.
